First, on these controversial issues to be discussed this session, I ask that we manage the discussion of extremes

For instance, recent testimony on "cloning bigomy" probably has very little relevance to this discussion.

I stand in opposition not because I, or MHRN, support human cloning but because I want to take the opportunity to reenforce the idea, as we head into this session, that we not place theocratic ideology above sound science; that we not base laws solely on moral & ethical considerations out of balance w/ logic & rational thought.
